

Modern Man

Written By
James Chan

Shots heard 'round the world today
Forty-four bodies on the floor of a dorm
Another sick bastard blew a fuse
And refuse to be taken down without a storm

These events are cause to query
Just where we all went wrong
What kind of crazy creature
Solves their problems with a gun?

Modern mother lost her mind
Blindly threw her babies off a bridge
Without a care for consequence
I guess she just got tired of her kids
Or maybe she can't stand to bare
The future they'll have to face
Of course it's just a cop out
She can't stand the human race

I am just a modern man
Living in the world without a plan
Just another modern man
Waiting for the shit to hit the fan

Modern man in a traffic jam
Still can't read the writing on the wall
The more things change they stay the same
The game's called kingdoms rise and kingdoms fall
But I'd hate to break the bad news
The U.S. will be no less
'Cause fear is the latest fashion
Primal passion at its best

I am just a modern man
Living in a world without a plan
Just another modern man
Waiting for the shit to hit the fan