

All Control Is Lost

Written By
James Chan

The confusion of living
Drops us like water onto rocks
Falling then failing
Breaking the moment we hit the surface
Shattering into a million molecules
Our thoughts fragment
Then reassemble into unrecognizable shapes
All we know is suspect
All we want is beauty
All we need is love...
That illusive feeling you get when you Let others in
Until they get so close
All control is lost